A (Swedish) Longboard Surf Academy in Costa Rica
Photography: Daniel Månsson

Jens and Peter are two Swedes who run a surf academy that moves around the world and follows the summer (didn't they make a movie about that? Ed). For the winter months of January, February and March they are based at a fine left-hand beach break in Costa Rica that offers warm water and great longboard waves for all levels. Both are particularly stylish people so they caught the notice of Men's File, as did their Costa Rican ranch and surf school where you can learn new skills or improve existing ones. I think Men's File might be going there soon.
